

Do Your Wristband Solutions Match Your Needs?

You're under pressure to handle an ever increasing number of patients, while minimizing expenses and mistakes. That means making the most of every minute and making sure every action is the most accurate—an impossibility for yesterday's wristband solutions. If they're not specialized in perfecting patient identification, they're missing the mark in supporting your tight timelines, constrained budgets and patients' safety.

Are Your Current Printers Testing Your Patience?

Create Calibrating Chaos:

You have to manually adjust for adult, pediatric and infant wristbands

A Multitasking Mess:

Your printers keep you—and patients—waiting while they print other things besides wristbands.

Reprints, Retesting Redundancies:

Wristbands that fall off, fade, and are wiped off with disinfectants cause workarounds, errors, and waste.

An Open Invitation to Trouble:

Without protection, your printers are a security breach waiting to happen.

A Pain in the Neck for IT:

Printers that can't be managed, maintained and fixed remotely drain precious time and resources.
